Spotlight on Students

Welcome Back!

We are excited to have officially kicked off our 2016-2017 school year! Here's a quick look at what's happening:

- We have 8 new families starting in grades 3 - 7
- Our after school program now includes a weekly Zoomobile visit from Roger Williams Park Zoo
- Cross-country is off and running for our Middle School students
- We welcomed 2 new staff members: music teacher Lindsey Shoemaker and Speech and Language Therapist Kristen Montag
- We have a real library! See the construction update below.
- Our blog, The World of Complex Learners has a new section- Wolf Wednesdays! Check out the first post, ***3 Things Teachers Want to Know About Your Complex Learner.***

Spotlight on Complex Learners

Second Annual Conference

In response to more educators and parents recognizing students as Complex Learners who require more intensive interventions and individualized programming at school and at home, The Wolf School has developed an annual Complex Learners Conference.

This year's conference, Complex Learners: Bridging Assessment and Treatment for Social and Academic Success, is designed for teachers, parents, occupational therapists, speech and language pathologists, therapists, and other special education professionals. Please join us on October 15, 2016 with guest speakers psychiatrist Todd Levine, MD and neuropsychologist Allison Evans, Ph.D. To learn more and to register click here.

Construction Update

Growing Our Vision

As students were leaving in June, construction had just begun on our Growing Our Vision building project. After a hectic summer, our staff and students were delighted to find some amazing new renovations when they returned in September. While construction is still ongoing for our new classroom and new faculty space, students, staff and families are already enjoying a new community space and a new library!

Thanks to an in-kind donation from the Reardon family, our old Faculty Room has been completely transformed into a warm and welcoming community space (pictured on the right)! With new appliances, cabinets, furniture, flooring, and much more, we are thrilled to have such a beautiful space in The Wolf School!

After!

We are also ecstatic to have our library back! With the shelves filling up and the door open, our students are already busy checking out books! Learn more about the space here.

Thank you to all our generous donors who made this building project possible. Stay tuned for more updates!

Spotlight on Golf

Making a Difference on the Course

The Wolf School's Third Annual Golf Outing was held on Tuesday, September 20th at the acclaimed Wannamoisett

Country Club! The weather was beautiful as Wolf supporters joined Jr. Ryder Cup player- Patrick Welch for a day of golf! Patrick Welch, older brother of Jack Welch, a current Wolf student, teed off for golfers as a way to raise money for Wolf, and later joined his brother and other Wolf students for a one-hour Putt & Chip Clinic sponsored by Wannamoisett. Thank you to our Event Sponsors and our Golf committee- Jamie Reardon, Jason Krikorian, Ken Thompson and Tamara McKenney for making this event possible.
