Carol Stock Kranowitz Wolf's Spring Speaker Series Kicks Off!

The Wolf School was thrilled to host Carol Stock Kranowitz as our inaugural speaker for our new Wolf Spring Speaker Series. The series was started with the hopes of offering the community access to regional and national speakers who can offer their expertise and knowledge on issues related to children with learning and attention issues.

Carol Stock Kranowitz presented to over 100+ attendees on "Sensory Challenges and Sensible Solutions" on May 10th. Prior to the public presentation, Wolf staff members were grateful to have an opportunity to ask questions to the well known author of The Out-Of-Sync Child, and learn from such a well regarded individual from the world of sensory processing.

School to Summer Tips for a smooth summer transition

When the school year ends, kids are excited. They can't wait to leave the hallways and homework behind. But despite the thrill of those summer months ahead, the transition can be hard. For kids who have learning, social and/or sensory challenges, this change in routine can be especially difficult and create unexpected problems. To make things easier for you and your child, here are a few things to watch for. Continue reading...

Field Day Fun
Ushering in the last weeks of school

With warmer weather comes Field Day fun! From water balloon tosses to a Middle School Wiffle Ball game, students and staff enjoyed a day outdoors during this Wolf School tradition.
